Mind the Gap!

We try to keep the Masters Picture Book online bang up-to-date. So, the day after the installation, we change the name to that of the new Master, and we remove the photo of the outgoing one. We like to post the photo of the new Master at the same time, rather than just leaving a blank frame "Picture Awaited". So please encourage your successor to send us his head-and shoulders picture a week or two before the Installation

Mind the Gap!

Does your Company change in June? If so, and you would like your successor to appear in our no 8 (Ironbridge) edition, we need their details, and a picture of the Master and Mistress, before 1 June

Introduction by Dr. Christine Rigden, Sherriff of the City of London

I was delighted to accept the invitation to write the forward to this Masters' Picture Book. I am proud to support this initiative of the Tylers & Bricklayers of which I am a Liveryman, and their first Sheriff in several hundred years. This, the seventh issue in five years, is indicative of its popularity.

As Masters you are all very well placed to act as ambassadors, not only for your own Liveries, but for the City of London in general. The Livery, the Business City, and the Civic City are inexorably linked.

The Civic City promotes UK financial and business services which contribute massively to our economy: 13% of GDP, £55million in trade surplus, and 7% of total UK employment. The Business City benefits from this promotion by the Mayoralty and Corporation, providing vital income, employment and value creation to the economy. The Livery links closely with both the Business and Civic City supporting education, promoting professional standards and adding value to the Civic City and wider society.

The City Livery Companies alone make charitable donations of £42 million annually, as well as contributing much else in terms of time and expertise. This is in addition to other significant charitable foundations managed by the Corporation such as the City Bridge Trust which makes annual donations in Greater London of £18 million.

We need all aspects of the City of London to flourish – the Business City, the Civic City, and the Livery. There are many good news stories in the City which deserve to be known more widely.

Please play your part in spreading this message. I wish all Masters a most successful and enjoyable year in office.
