Mistresses and Consorts Picture Book no. 7

An initiative of the Tylers and Bricklayers Company

22 November 2017

The most battered booklet on our book shelf is a copy of the Mistresses and Consorts Picture Book number 3. This much-thumbed pamphlet was of invaluable help during my husband Charles' year as Sheriff of the City of London. Leafing through it now brings back very many happy memories and is a reminder of the warmth and fellowship that exists within the livery movement.

The enthusiasm of the consorts for their associated livery companies and the huge amount of work that they do supporting the efforts of the Masters in furthering their company's trade, apprenticeship and educational schemes and charitable endeavours is extra-ordinary.

Shared endeavour and effective communication can only enhance all that we do. The picture book goes a very long way towards facilitating relationships within our community and I wouldn't be without it.

I am so looking forward to meeting you all over the coming months and I hope you have a marvellous year.

With all best wishes,
Samantha
